

Revision Organiser 2017

Name:

Example:

Tips:

Insert your exams onto the calendar first, and then organise which subjects you revise around these dates (the dates are for example only!)

Cross out any days/times when you know you can't revise e.g. birthdays, football matches etc.

MARCH

Excellence is the gradual result of always striving to do better.
Pat Riley

APRIL

The fight is won or lost far away from witnesses - behind the lines, in the gym, and out there on the road, long before I dance under those lights.

Muhammad Ali

MAY

I don't really think life is about the
I-could-have-beens. Life is only about the I-tried-to-do. I don't mind the failure but I can't imagine
I'd forgive myself if I didn't try.

Nikki Giovanni

JUNE

You may never know what results come of your action, but if you do nothing there will be no result.

Mahatma Ghandi

Day-to-day revision planner - MARCH

Day-to-day revision planner - APRIL

Day-to-day revision planner - MAY

Day-to-day revision planner - JUNE

Revision Tips

Remove distractions: including your phone! Find somewhere comfortable where you won't be disturbed. A desk with a light is good.

Have a plan (and stick to it!): knowing what you'll be revising and when, against the dates of the exams, will reduce the stress and panic. However, don't be afraid to amend the plan if it's not working.

Start with the obvious: make sure you have a full set of notes, read through them and make sure you understand them. If not, ask!

Create recourses from your notes:

Mind maps (maybe using diagrams and colour)

Quizzes

Cue cards with key information/ summaries of topics/ key words

Post-it notes with key information/ words that can be stuck up around the house

Mini-revision booklets: take a topic heading and write a concise summary of information under that heading. Use your notes to start off with but try doing this from memory nearer the exam.

Do past papers in timed conditions: ask your teacher to mark them. If they are essay questions, try to get copies of good examples.

Take regular short breaks e.g. 10 minutes for each hour of revision but don't become too distracted!

Leave time for yourself: eat well (lots of fruit and veg), drink lots (but not energy drinks), get plenty of exercise and sleep (at least 8 hours). Build rest periods/ time for things you enjoy into your timetable. Go for a walk—get some fresh air and a change of scene!

Stay positive: if you find your mood slipping because of revision, talk with someone. Speak with you friends/parents/tutor/HOAP/favourite teacher. It is natural to feel this way in times of stress/pressure—often just talking about it at the earliest opportunity will make you feel much better and clear your mind.

Good luck!

